STATE CONDUCTING AUDIT OF COUNTY

Otis M. Smith, State Auditor General, announced that a State audit of Crawford County for the calendar year 1960 is being conducted.

Smith said that this is a regular audit which his department is required by law to conduct in each county. These audits are conducted to ascertain if the accounting systems and records conform to and are consistent with proper governmental accounting standards; if there has been any irregularity in the receipt, expenditure or disposition of any monies received or appropriated; or if such funds have been disbursed and used for any purpose other than that provided by law.

The last State conducted audit of Crawford County was for the calendar year ended December 31, 1959.

ELMER RADKA GIVES IST CON-CON REPORT

My first report to you following the first week of the Constitutional Convention is not so much what did happen but what didn't happen.

The throngs of interested citizens expected at the opening ceremonies did not appear. The attendance followed the percentage interest shown at the polls, about 20 per cent of those expected.

The Republicans did not deadlock on their endorsement of a preferred nominee for president and the battle was avoided on the convention floor.

The nomination of Stephen S. Nisbet as a compromise candidate did not trigger a convention contest between Democrats and Republicans.

The adoption of rules and procedures of the convention did not develop into a partisan contest. The liaison committee of the two parties reported satisfaction with the cooperation which was demonstrated.

The partisan contests were not present at the second session and the harmony was so evident that at least one delegate was prompted to say that it was not right for everyone to be so agreeable to all of the recommendations made by the committee on permanent organization and rules.

The harmony demonstrated will be continued on Page 8.

Advisory Vote On Municipal Light Plant Called By Council

Registered voters of the City of Grayling will go to the polls next Wednesday in an advisory vote called by the City Council on a proposal to sell the Municipal generating system and distribution system to Consumers Power Company for $425,000.

The sale does not include the building housing the municipal light plant or the property upon which it stands. The vote was requested by the City Council after they had unanimously passed a resolution recommending the sale.

The polls for the election will be set up in the mezzanine area of the high school gym for voters from both of the city's precincts. Polls will be open from 7:00 in the morning until 8:00 in the evening. Free rides to the polls are offered, just dial DI 8-6651. A car will pick you up take you to the polls and return you to your home.

The sale offer was made to the City Council at a meeting on August 17th. The Council took the proposal under advisement and at a special meeting on Friday, September 1st voted unanimously to recommend the sale but asked for a special advisory election of the voters of the City of Grayling.

The sale proposal by Consumers came about as the result of a study of the plant and equipment made last May on the invitation of the Council.

Five separate provisions were offered in presenting the offering price of $425,000. They were:

1. The City will retain title to the building, which the diesel generating units are now located. The Company to be given without rental or fees a year's time from date of purchase to remove the generating facilities.
2. The City will retain title to the land associated with the diesel generating building excepting a portion thereof for a sub-station site for will provide a site at a suitable location elsewhere.
3. Offers of employment with the Consumers Power Company somewhere in the operating area will be given to the electric employees who have been employed by the City of Grayling with respect to health and ability.
4. Upon removal of the generating facilities the Company will clean up the building on a rough basis and repair any damages resulting from the removal of the facilities.
5. The City will retain accounts receivable as well as responsibility for payment of any debt associated with the electric plant to the date of transfer of title and business.

In addition to this, Consumers proposes to spend approximately $80,000 in the first three years of operation in Grayling to rehabilitate the distribution system and to tie in their lines to a sub-station to be created here if the sale were to become a reality. The tie-in in the first year would cost $15,000 with another $27,000 to be spent on the distribution system which would include replacing about 100 poles and associated equipment which is classified as poor, and fair to poor. The second year an additional $14,000 would be spent to replace 50 poles and related equipment which are now classified as fair to poor. Expenditure for the third year would be $7,000 to replace 25 poles and equipment which are classified as fair.

An overall study of rates show that the total Consumers bill might be slightly higher. Their rate is set by the Michigan Public Service Commission and the rate charged by the company throughout the state of Michigan. The total light plant indebtedness now according to the Consumers proposal is $120,000. This is for outstanding bonds and owed to the city's general fund. Subtracted from the original sale offer price, it would leave the city $298,000 clear. Added to this the estimated value of the building, land and trucks and tools, would give the city an equity of $382,000. Invested in government securities, this amount would give the city $11,535 income each year. Also added would be a tax benefit to the business going into private operation of $1,535 per year plus a tax payment to the Grayling School District of $1,760 each year.

Under this formula, the City would realize $12,785 per year but would be faced with an additional charge of $672 more for street lighting this year. The city would be $113 for water pumping. This additional city expense would total $785, leaving a net yearly income of $12,000.

Word from J. L. Martin says that Mrs. Martin underwent surgery at Harper Hospital on September 25th, and is able to be up and around and is beginning to enjoy her meals a little.

Drop Third Loop Game To Boyne

The East Jordan Red Devils will invade the lighted gridiron at the Grayling Memorial Recreation Area this Friday night in opposition for the Grayling Vikings for the 1961 homecoming game. The Red Devils, whose only defeat came at the hands of the powerful Boyne City Rams in the state, the Rams, the Vikings, hurtling with injuries, were out gunned from the start. They were very much out weighed by the Ramblers and Boyne's backfield speed was more than the Vikings could handle. Grayling sorely in need of more depth also had trouble as the Ramblers large reserve force gave them fresh men when needed.

Grayling lost the services of Mike Young from earlier injuries and Gary Pettigrew injured his shoulder just before the game in practice. Jim Young replaced Pettigrew at outside linebacker. The game turned in a good game for a sophomores. Grayling moved the ball very well in fact their best all season except against Harrison. The defense was very poor though. Norm Sorenson, Jim Johnson and Larry Gust turned in the best defensive games while Tim Neal's passing and Tom LaMotte's receiving stood out on offense.

Boyne led 37 to 0 at halftime but were only able to outscore Grayling 12 to 6 in the third quarter. The game ended in a final score of 49 to 12. Grayling scored on a 40 yard pass play, Neal to LaMotte.

Grayling Jayvees To Gaylord On Thursday

The Grayling Junior Vikings are looking forward to their third football contest of the season when they travel to Gaylord on Thursday. The Grayling Junior Blue Devils are presently 3-0 for the season while the Grayling Jayvees are 0-2. Grayling's junior varsity owns victories over Grayling 30-12, Harbor Springs 34-0 and Kalkaska 38-6. Grayling's only other decision was a close fought loss 27-20 to the Harrison Junior Varsity.

Among the offensive standouts for the Grayling Jayvees are Jim Young, who has scored five touchdowns, Mark Anderson who has gained considerable yardage, Dan Tinker who provides a good deal of punch at the fullback slot and Jack Harney, Steve Dawson and Eddie Robertson have turned in fine performances on defense.

Grayling's remaining games are: Kalkaska here on October 19 and at East Jordan on October 25.

School Notes

Grayling State Bank President John H. Alef gave a talk on banking to the General Business class on Tuesday at the High School.

Six weeks exams are this Thursday and Friday.

This weekend is Homecoming, starting Thursday with a snake dance led by the cheerleaders and the band at 7:30 p. m. On Friday the band will play at 3:00 p. m. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Five adults and thirty members of the High School senior class turned out for the evening meeting of the Republican Women's Club at which Congressional Representative Elford Cederberg and State Representative Ross Stevens gave talks.

Mr. Stevens reported on the Lansing legislature, and how he is getting acquainted with the State Congress, and also spoke on the Constitutional Convention, Mr. Cederberg spoke for a few minutes on what Congress had been doing during its last session. Then the meeting was opened to questions.

All of the questions came from the students. Both speakers pressed their satisfaction with the quality of the questions coming from the seniors.

Coffee and doughnuts served by the Republican Women's Club closed the meeting.

Changes On County School Board Posts

County School Superintendent Wesley Kumpula announced today that at a recent meeting of the County Board, William Joseph of Grayling was elected as the new president. Pat Harwood of Lovells was named as the new vice president.

The first section of Interstate 75 Freeway in Crawford County was opened to traffic last Friday, the State Highway Department announced.

The five-mile section of freeway, which extends from M-18 north to Grayling, was completed nine months ahead of schedule. The southbound lanes of the new freeway previously carried northbound traffic on the old divided highway. Two new lanes were built to carry northbound traffic. The project, which cost $1.6 million, includes an interchange at Chase Ridge Rd., about four miles south of Grayling and an access ramp into Grayling about one mile south of the city.

Another 20 miles of freeway are still under construction in Crawford County.

Johnson-Greene Co., of Ann Arbor was the prime contractor.

To Study Trout Loss In County

Groundwork was laid last week for a study which might shed light on the puzzling problem of Michigan's high trout die-off during the winter, the Conservation Department reports.

Details of the study still must be worked out, but the Department's basic plan calls for researching the wintering habits of merrimack ducks along the North Branch of the Ausable River.

Department fisheries biologists have long suspected that fish-eating birds, particularly mergansers, are one of the factors behind trout mortality which shows a seasonal die-off. This is only true during hard winters when the birds are forced to concentrate in certain areas in search of food.

This winter's research work because it has been under study since the early 1930's and fisheries biologists have a better-than-average knowledge of trout population there. Also, the stream is a popular wintering spot for mergansers because its spring-fed waters stay open all winter.

The Department's winter study is slated to begin in early January. Mergansers usually concentrate along the North Branch at this time to take advantage of its open waters for feeding.

Department game men will cooperate with fisheries biologists in the study. They plan to live trap mergansers for pen-feeding experiments.

From these experiments, the Department hopes to determine how much food the average merganser eats each day. It would also like to find out if mergansers are selective in their feeding habits; that is, whether the birds show a strong preference for trout or whether they will eat minnows, suckers and other food just as readily.

Aerial and ground censusing work will be done to determine how many birds use the North Branch, the length of their winter stay, and their areas of concentration along the stream.

Department fisheries crews are now conducting a post-season population survey in the North Branch. A similar survey will be made before the trout season opens in late May. Figures from the two studies will be compared to gauge trout mortality this winter.

Her father an American citizen, came back to the United States to serve in the armed forces all during World War Two. After the war, he sent for Miss Yee and her mother and since then they have lived in New York City.

To tell the old Chinese idea of no education for women, Miss Yee's father insisted that she obtain a college degree. She began a career in the field of medicine but during her senior year could not decide whether to enter medical school or not, so she decided to work for a year and it was during this year that she decided to serve the Lord. She accepted a position as Parish Worker at True Light and on October 20 will be presenting a very interesting program on her work among the Chinese. Everyone is invited to attend and hear this interesting person.

Fifteen men left Grayling Sept. 8 and headed northwest to Minneapolis and then on to Moose Jaw, Sask., where the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor and many city officials met them at the airport, escorted them into town and rolled out the red welcome carpet for them.

This was the first leg of the flight into what is without a doubt some of the finest fishing on the North American Continent.

Those participating on this fishing trip were: John Wharf, Don Wharf, Pontiac, Don Weaver, George Weaver, Tom Stamply, Art Clough, Ray Snider, Russ Wright, Earl Johnson, Otto Felling, Bill Herp, Bob, Charles, Roscommon, Charles, Papenfus, Roscommon, Lloyd Wills, Bay City, and Clarence Roberts.

In Moose Jaw, we were put up in a fine hotel. A delicious party and dinner followed the reception. We had a short time to look over the town and then hit the hay. Bright and early, September 9th we boarded the aircraft and headed 700 miles north to Stony Rapids, where we were met by Oscar Sanderson, camp manager for Camp Grayling and after loading in panel trucks headed 16 miles on into camp where lunch was waiting.

After a quick lunch the 15 men accompanied by guides, one guide for each trip, headed for the lake. On the way up, though, pools were made up for the largest in weight, for Grayling, northern pike and lake trout.

Art Clough picked up all the marbles for his 2 lb. 4 oz. Grayling. Tom Stamply brought in the prize Northern, a real beauty at 17 1/2 lbs. and about 4 feet long. Clarence Roberts lucked out with a 23 1/2 lb. lake trout.

Throughout the entire trip the weather was near perfect. A light snow and rain squall one day lasted but a few minutes then cleared again.

It would be almost impossible to keep track of the fish that were caught and released by the party but they would run into the tons of fish.

There are creel limits that must be adhered to but, only enough for lunches and a few to bring home.

Limits are generous but, it would be impossible to carry a legal limit for each member of the party on the aircraft, which limits each man to 20 pounds of fish.

Legal possession limit for fisherman is 10 trout, 16 pike and 20 Grayling.

The scenery in the country is fabulous and the shifter bugs took hundreds of pictures of waterfalls, fighting fish, Indian villages, rock formations, and many other subjects, to bring home and attempt to authenticate some of the seemingly tall stories concerning this wonderful country.

This year's trip had better weather, a better fight and if such a thing is possible, the fishing was better.

Without a doubt there will be another trip next year.

Bits O' Talk

Mrs. Jim Wright of Mansfield, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Lucksted, last week. Her husband joined her on the weekend and took her home Sunday.

Grayling, Michigan, Thursday, October 12, 1961

Light Plant Question . . .

Next Wednesday, October 18, the citizens of Grayling will be asked to vote in a special advisory election on the proposition of whether to sell the municipal light plant to Consumers Power Company.

Although we are users of light and power from the city light plant and also taxpayers in the City of Grayling, we will be unable to vote in the election due to the fact that our residence is outside of the city limits.

However, we wish to urge every qualified voter in the city of Grayling to vote, regardless of how they feel on the matter. The city council desires a true expression of opinion from as many of the voters as can possibly cast their ballot.

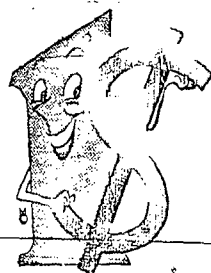

Although as we said previously, we can not vote, we urge the qualified electors to vote and we recommend a "yes" vote. Firstly as a matter of principle, we do not feel that any governing body whether federal, state or local should engage in any business when a free enterprise tax-paying business offers the same service.

A close study of all of the various facets of the problem in which the Avalanche has brought before the public in the past several weeks point only one way . . . sell.

We could go on at some length about finances, the needs of the city and so forth, but, a reading of the various articles published over the past several weeks in this newspaper should give any voter the facts he needs to make up his mind on how to cast his ballot.

In other elections of this type, opposition forces have been known to bring out an eleventh hour circular filled with charges which can not be answered due to the lateness of their appearance. We caution the Grayling electors to look with a very thoughtful eye on any last minute throw-aways, circulars or rumors. You have been given the facts by the Grayling City Council who unanimously passed the resolution recommending the sale.

Again, we urge everyone to turn out to this most important, although advisory, election. Progress urges a "yes" ballot, but, if you feel otherwise we still urge you to vote. R. W. S.

Offers Of A Fair Price For The

Consumers Power Company proposes to buy only the customers on the distribution system.
Grayling will retain the building, land, tools, etc.

Consumers Power estimates the value of land and buildings at $75,000. No one has stepped forward to tell you what it will cost you the taxpayers to remodel and renovate the building to make it suitable for purposes other than what it was built.

IS THE PRICE OF $425,000 A FAIR ONE?
THE ANSWER IS OBVIOUS "NO"

HERE ARE THE FACTS — Consumers Power Company paid the City of Kalamazoo $1,625,000.00 for a system having approximately 950 customers.

The Grayling Electric Light Department has 133 customers that Consumers Power proposes to pay $425,000.00 for.

WHY THE HUGE DIFFERENCE IN THE PRICE?
THIS IS WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE "NO"!!!

Consumers Power offers Grayling $1,200,000.00 less for a system that has 183 more customers than the City of Kalamazoo.

Will Your Power Rates Increase If The Plant Is Sold — THE ANSWER IS "YES".

Consumers Power does not have to go to the Michigan Public Service Commission to raise your power rates. It is the right of the State Rate allowed by the Public Service Commission; and is now being charged by Consumers Power where there is no competition. In Bay City, Michigan, a city customer pays approximately 18% less for electrical power than his neighbor who may be a Consumer Customer.

What The People Want

What do YOU look for when you buy a new car? If you're like sixteen out of seventeen Detroit radio listeners recently asked that question, you'd answer that dealer integrity, able service and economy, in order, count most. Price is place a poor fourth, ranking one listener to the man called "Phone Opinion." "One of my reasons in buying an automobile, and I'm sure the majority of your audience agrees, is the way the picture paint you before you buy car. We are going to care of your car. It's best car on the road."

Everybody has the same 7, basically. But after the it's a totally different 7 you go back for repairs and minor ones—with your many still in effect, and just give you the run-around. They stall you off by rearing you to one mechanic or another and keep you sitting for hours until you will get fixed and leave. One lone dissenter—an automobile salesman—claimed price is the most important of all buyers, economy and service notwithstanding. As most automobile dealers alike, actual public behavior is a compromise between these attitudes. To be successful, dealer must be competitive in price, but back his product with honest dealing and reliable service if he is going to acquire and keep customers. Our town is not so big that we can afford the one-shot no-respect sale, or to let customers offering less value for the buyer's money.

jurisdiction over migratory birds, and Michigan's Commission can't very well make something legal which these Continental authorities say is illegal.

In other words, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has the real authority for establishing hunting regulations on the ducks, geese, coots, gallinules, rails, and woodcock that are Michigan's migratory game birds.

The object is to maintain adequate breeding populations of the birds, and yet satisfy as large a proportion of the country's hunters as possible—no easy task.

This year, hunters are experiencing the most restrictive season on record, with the duck season limited to 30 days and the bag limit down to two birds per day.

The prime reason for this bottled season is the severe drought which hit the Manitoba-Saskatchewan pothole country this spring and summer.

As it now stands, the severe drought in the pothole country is certain to let up in the next few years. By tight restrictions this year, we will be able to send enough breeding stock back to that pothole country next spring.

And the combination of water plus birds equals more duck hunting for everybody in the years to come.

THE WHITE PINE STORY

LANSING — Symbol of Michigan's forest heritage; backbone of Michigan's lumber industry which led the nation in output from 1870 to 1890; wakening of the Midwest's early development; valuable member of today's forests in this state.

This is Michigan's official state tree, the white pine.

At one time, Michigan's white pine stands were the greatest the world had ever seen. In the last half of the 1800's, an enormous demand for cheap building material echoed throughout the rapidly expanding Midwest.

Rugged loggers answered this call and from Michigan's rich pine stands they produced the now legendary lumbering era, a colorful period filled with romance and glory, and tragedy. This was Paul Bunyan's heyday and white pine was his tree.

From the white pine harvest was hewn the great financial, commercial, and industrial rise of this state.

While white pine will never again reach its former heights in the lumbering world, it remains an important part of Michigan's forests. It figures prominently in public and private reforestation work in the state.

Today, white pine is found mostly in the upper peninsula and the northern half of the lower peninsula, although it occurs as far south as Allegan, Eaton, and St. Clair counties and can be successfully planted even in the most southern counties.

White pine grows in nearly pure stands or mixed with red (Norway) pine, or with hardwoods and hemlock. It is best adapted to moist, sandy loam soils but grows on a variety of sites from swamp to dry sand.

At maturity, it towers 80 to 120 feet above the ground with a diameter of from three to four feet. Under forest conditions, mature pines have narrow crowns; when grown in the open, crowns are symmetrical and broad. Tops of tall, exposed white pines are often bent away from the direction of the prevailing winds and flattened on the windward side.

The bark of young white pine is smooth and dark greenish-brown; on older trees it is gray and deeply grooved. Needles occur in clusters of five. They are three to five inches long, pale blue-green, and are fine and soft compared with needles of the other two native Michigan pines, the red and jack pine. Mature white pines cones occur in drooping clusters near the tops of the trees. They are narrow and tapering, with rather loose flexible scales, opening in September of the second year.

White pine wood is creamy-white to reddish-brown, soft, straight grained, and uniform in texture. Lumber, sash, millwork, paneling, interior finish, and boxes are principal products of white pine in this state.

Michigan's present volume of white pine is estimated to be nearly 300 million cubic feet, including 1.2 billion board feet of sawtimber, plus nearly 1.3 million cords of smaller material. Two-thirds of the sawtimber is in the upper peninsula, particularly in the western part, where the largest volume exists as old-growth trees mixed in hardwood forests.

In the lower peninsula, two small stands of virgin pine are preserved at Interlochen and Hartwick Pines state parks.

Today's annual cut of white pine is approximately 3.5 million cubic feet of wood, mostly sawlogs which total almost 20 million board feet. This is four percent of the total board foot production in the state. It contrasts sharply with the white pine cut in 1889, when 3.5 billion board feet was harvested, representing 65 percent of the total timber cut in the state that year.

Turn of Card May Reveal Fate of Your Birth Defects Victim

At March of Dimes Birth Defects Study Center, Johnny X shown against background of electronic computer card which records his life so far—and his chances of survival.

Johnny X from Tennessee is nine months old. His head is extremely large for the small body. He has water on the brain.

When his mother recently took Johnny to the Birth Defects Study Center at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, Nashville, Tenn., for specialized treatment of this disease, known medically as hydrocephalus, their first appointment was with a doctor who had a most unusual assistant—an inanimate electronic sorter.

Dr. Robert E. Merrill, assistant director of the Birth Defects Study Center, a research unit financed by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, explained:

"This apparatus is something unique when applied to birth defects. It can be a lifesaver. It's an IBM machine, and its memory is many thousands of times more retentive than the proverbial elephant's. In effect, our mechanical robot here is going to interview Johnny and, although I'm Johnny's doctor, I'm really acting only as a sort of glorified office-boy-to-the-machine."

Using a device somewhat resembling a typewriter keyboard, Dr. Merrill began punching in perforation represented the mother's answer to one of a long list of questions. Her answers covered such data as Johnny's age and birthdate, mother's age at delivery, illnesses of mother during pregnancy, stillbirths, any physical defects in husband or wife, Johnny's weight, his age when his head started to enlarge and head circumference.

Sorts of other vital facts are fed into the machine that never forgets.

When the sorter finishes "interviewing" Johnny, the green card has recorded for all time and in capsule form the infant's past and present life, and his family background.

More significantly, the electronic device also faithfully remembers the case histories of hundreds of other Johnny's whose brain fluid is blocked as it is with this boy.

Dr. Merrill has only to run these cards through the high-speed sorter to compare these life histories with Johnny's.

Most important of all, for this youngster and his apprehensive parents, is that the sorter can help the doctor form a reasonably accurate idea of Johnny's immediate future; help him decide on the advisability of surgical insertion of a drainage or plastic tube to draw off the excess fluid into the blood stream; and, indeed, assist the physician in predicting the future course of the disease.

This is done by a study of past performances of other hydrocephalic infants whose medical circumstances closely resemble those of this baby. That data is available almost instantly—"in a minute fraction of the time," as Dr. Merrill says, "required to go through the records by hand."

This comparative diagnosis "can save a child's life," he adds. "At least one thing to guide us, and guide us instantaneously, is our experience. In five minutes, usually, the sorter can give us information that helps us decide precisely what to do in Johnny's case—and what not to do."

Aside from the Birth Defects Study Center at Vanderbilt, The National Foundation-March of Dimes has financed similar centers at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, and at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center at Oklahoma City.

Eventually, when the experiment Dr. Merrill is conducting is completed, the study centers are expected to pool their records of hundreds of victims of significant birth defects for the benefit of all. This time, there are about 250,000 such infants born yearly in the United States.

The word for it is... Masterful!

"Superb" . . . "luxurious" . . . "beautiful" . . . "brilliant"—there are many words that might be used to describe the new 1962 Cadillac car.

But if we were to select from the Cadillac vocabulary the one word that most completely captures the essence of this latest "car of cars"—we would choose "masterful!"

For here is a motor car that has already established its mastery in everything that makes an automobile good and fine and desirable.

In appearance, it is clearly a Cadillac masterpiece—graceful, clean-lined and elegant.

In performance, it is a revelation. Its power plant is a reservoir of silt power—and the car rides and handles with an instinctive ease and sureness.

In safety, it is in a class of its own—with a host of exclusive features, including remarkable new side cornering lights.

In craftsmanship, it is simply without rival. Every 1962 Cadillac will undergo more than 1400 inspections to assure its quality and goodness.

On-and-on the list could go. But however lengthy, that list could never replace the experience of inspecting the car and driving it.

Your dealer will happily let you do both.

Once you have, you'll understand why the word has gone out so quickly that this is the finest motor car ever to bear the Cadillac name.

to winterproof your car

There's more to winterproofing a car than just adding anti freeze. We do that, too—but we also check hoses, connections, battery and other points which could cause trouble. When we're through, you know your car's ready for winter. You can depend on Leonard.

Opportunity Comes Knocking

Right in the middle of harvest, Smiley Roberts' hired man, Artie, says he's a hired man. So it was a stroke of real luck when a stranger knocked on Smiley's door asking for work.

"You can start right now!" says Smiley. "What about that?" With that Smiley wags his head. "Well, I guess I can say you whatever you figure you're worth."

The stranger thinks it over for a minute, shakes his head, and starts to walk away. "Sorry, mister," he says. "It's just not worth it to work for that kind of money."

From where I sit, a man who undervalues himself is bound to lose out in a lot of ways. But even worse is the man who undervalues other people. Chances are he's the kind of man who thinks only his own ideas are worth something—the kind of man who respects no opinion but his own. If he prefers tea, he's likely to object to your choice of coffee—or my choice of a glass of beer. Intolerance like this is no way to "reap" the rewards of good friendship.
